

Mathew Grissinger

Thanks for including me in your project. I will try and compile some more thoughts but, one of the jumps that stays fresh in my memory was Steve flying me when Robie was hiking the Appalachian Trail and I attempted to jump in high winds into beauty spot. Remember that?

It was my first time going through trees and then having to hike up the steep hill to get to the road, but Steve kept flying overhead trying to keep a visual on me to make sure I was all right. It is one of many jumps I will never forget. What a ride! Of course there are many others Steve flew me on and he always had something funny to say or some interesting tid-bit to share. The days at Decker especially on the weekends I always looked forward to. I always felt safe with Steve flying the aircraft. His sense of humor and compassion for life and for flying is truly missed...
